The storefront, arguably the most important segment of a commercial building, is often the portion that pedestrians and drivers notice the most.

The image shows the exterior of the Habibi Lebanese Restaurant at night. The building features a dark facade with a series of horizontal wooden slats that create a rhythmic pattern. A prominent sign is mounted on the wall, displaying the restaurant's name and type. To the left, a large, well-maintained green bush is visible. The sky is dark, and some bare tree branches are seen in the background. The overall atmosphere is modern and sophisticated.
